

ALL OF US KIDS WERE ACCIDENTS

Music: Schau/Martinsen

Lyrics: Schau

Now you're gone

I know you thought you could win the world
But the world could never be won

You did not belong

All of us kids were accidents,
But you were the worst one
You had everything but a future
Not accidentally

Can't believe you're gone

Your days were cardboard boxes
Unlabeled and empty

Now you're gone

And as I try to focus back
To when I thought we'd never get old

We were both so young

Recalling that one warm memory
Just makes me cold

Cause as easy was getting harder
You still didn't care

Can't believe you're gone

Autumn just sang in you bitter
Like unheard prayer

The only thing you did admit
Was that your hopes had snapped like sticks
So you didn't have them, it wasn't worth it
But how I wish to god I knew
What you had set your mind to do
Cause I never liked you, I fucking loved you

Now you're gone

You told me whatever you started
You would have to finish

When did it go wrong

So you started nothing at all
Cause starts were for winners
Yeah, it wasn't like you radiated
Anger or madness

Can't believe you're gone

More like this
Unspeakable aura of sadness

The only thing you did admit
Was that your hopes had snapped like sticks
So you didn't have them, it wasn't worth it
Oh how I wish to god I knew
What you had set your mind to do
Cause I never liked you, I fucking loved you
