

DO YOU REMEMBER ME NOW?

If you can't remember where you've seen my face before
You'll be surprised by what the next minutes got in store
I am the boy you used to pick on every day
But now I'm the man who's gonna take your life away

Do you remember me now?

Life...remind me what that means again
Sure, we were just kids, but now we're men
So if I am right, and you are right, you're saying the world must be wrong
Well, this isn't music, it's a wound disguised as a song

Do you remember me now?

Begging, screaming
Running, tears are streaming
Falling, crying
This time I know I'm dying
A voice, laughter
Why is it me you after
Those are my
Memories
Do you remember me now?

Do you remember me now?
